A. WELCOME TO OSTRAVA AND THE CZECH REPUBLIC

The Czech Figure Skating Association together with the City of Ostrava welcome skaters, officials, judges and guests from all International Skating Union Members to the ISU European Figure Skating Championships® 2017 in Ostrava, held from January 25th to January 29th.

With over 300,000 people, Ostrava is the third largest city in the Czech Republic. The first written mention of Ostrava dates back to 1267. The city was located on the “Amber Road” – a trade route used by medieval merchants to transport goods between the Baltic Sea and the Mediterranean. A turning-point in the city’s history came in the second half of the 18th century, when rich coal deposits were discovered. This brought a rapid boom in iron and steel production. Coal mining in Ostrava finished in 1994, but the city’s proud industrial heritage has helped it to maintain a unique and distinctive character, with many memorable attractions for visitors.

Ostrava is a modern, dynamic cultural center. It is renowned for its vibrant theatrical scene, with four permanent theatres including the acclaimed National Moravian-Silesian Theatre. Ostrava has a rich musical tradition, too, and is the home of the internationally renowned Janacek Philharmonic Orchestra.

The city hosts numerous cultural and sporting events throughout the year, including the multi-genre music festival Colours of Ostrava which attracts tens of thousands of visitors from all over Europe to see some of the world’s top musical talents. Other popular events include two classical music festivals – Janacek May and the St. Wenceslas Festival – plus the summer Shakespeare Festival, the prestigious Golden Spike athletics meeting (in which the world’s fastest man Usain Bolt participates regularly), and NATO Days – one of Europe’s premier military shows, held at the Mosnov airport. In 2014, Ostrava could boast with a title of European City of Sport. In 2004 and 2015, the city co-hosted (together with Prague) the IIHF Ice Hockey World Championship.

C. WHILE IN OSTRAVA - PLACES TO VISIT, THINGS TO DO

There are number of places to visit in Ostrava and its surroundings...

New City Hall

Ostrava's New City Hall has the tallest tower of any city hall in the Czech Republic, giving visitors a panoramic bird's-eye view of the city from the viewing platform 73 meters above the ground.

Ostrava Science and Technology Center

Ostrava's Science and Technology Center is a fun and interactive attraction where visitors can learn all about the fascinating world of technical progress. Highlights include simulators where visitors can drive a train, fly a plane, or experience being a steelworker, an astronaut, or even Captain Nemo – helping people of all ages understand the complex principles of science in an entertaining and accessible way. The Science and Technology Center is divided into two parts: the Small World of Technology and the Large World of Technology (14 000 m²), where visitors can explore four different “worlds” in one building.

Bolt Tower

This historic blast furnace at the Lower Vitkovice complex is open to visitors, who can ride the glass elevator to the top and enjoy refreshments at a café offering panoramic views of the entire city and the surrounding countryside. Visitors can also see down into the very heart of the former furnace.

Stodolní Street

Ostrava's legendary entertainment district boasts over 60 bars, clubs, restaurants and cafés offering a huge range of food and drink plus music of all genres. Like New York, Stodolní Street never sleeps!

Landek Park Mining Museum

At this fascinating museum you can take a tour of the former Anselm coal mine with a guide who used to be a miner there. The tour includes a descent into a simulated mine tunnel – giving a real sense of the noise and atmosphere of a working colliery. There is also a restaurant where you can sample authentic miners' specialties. A perfect way to immerse yourself in the rich culture of this proud profession.

Ema slag-heap

On the right bank of the Ostravice River, this slag-heap (an artificial hill created by piling up slag – the waste material from coal mines) reaches a height of 315 meters above sea level. It enjoys its own unique subtropical climate because the slag is still burning deep beneath the surface – you'll see the white smoke coming out of the cracks in the ground. Snow never settles here, and flowers grow all year round. Take the yellow-marked hiking path to the top of Ostrava's very own volcano, where you can enjoy some wonderful panoramic views of the city.

Miniuni World of Miniatures

The Miniuni World of Miniatures is a unique attraction at the Black Meadow (Cerna Louka) exhibition center, including miniature versions of some of the world's most famous buildings. Who could resist travelling around the whole world in just one afternoon? Pose for photos next to Ostrava's very own Pyramids, Eiffel Tower, or Big Ben.

Silesian Ostrava Castle

The Silesian Ostrava Castle once stood on higher ground than it does now, but during its long history it has sunk by 16 meters as mine tunnels have collapsed underneath it. It is situated not far from Ostrava's central Masaryk Square, at the point where the Lucina and Ostravice rivers meet. The castle is a popular venue for events throughout the year – including the summer Shakespeare festival and a range of fun events for children and families.

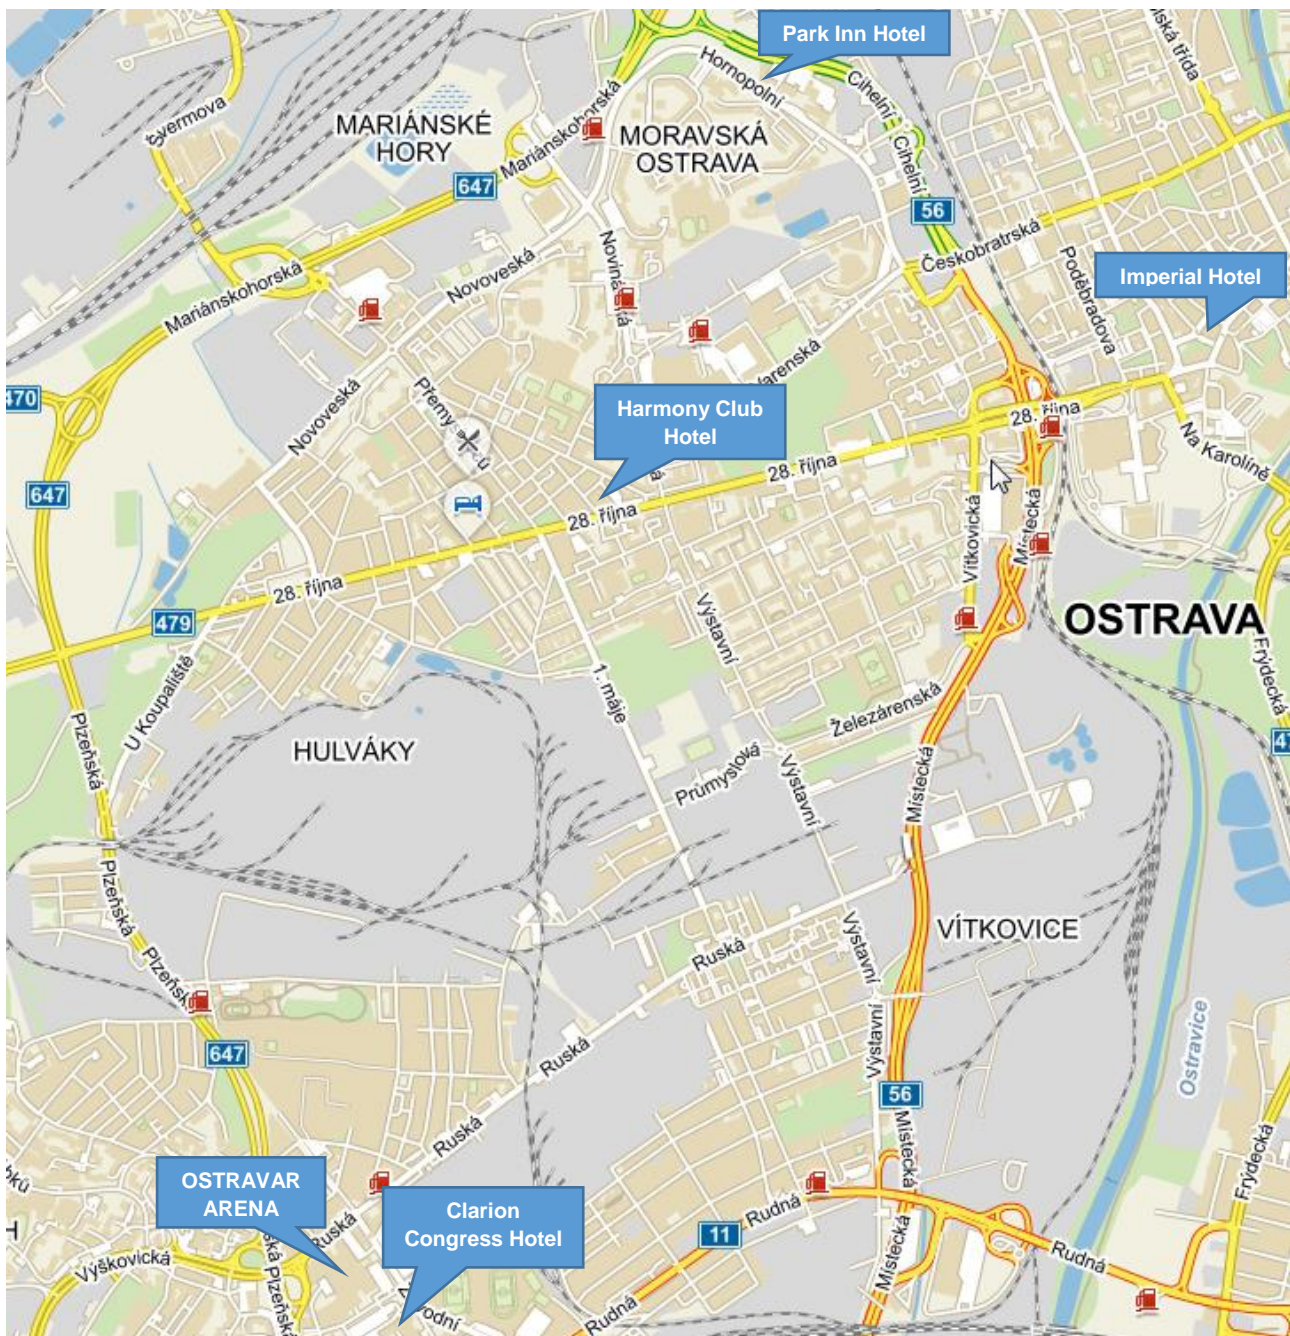

The spa town of Klimkovice

With its picturesque chateau, arcaded square, beautiful gardens and relaxing spa resort, Klimkovice is an oasis of calm just a few kilometers from the busy heart of Ostrava. The renowned spa complex is not far from the town center.
